I'll feed you to the dogs only to then lick your wounds
You could have learned from the rest, instead you'll burn with the greatest There's blood on our hands, get your self together and deal
We ought to run like as fast as we can

Hey kid, when did you start to decline?
Well, we don't remember falling, sinking feelings are all we're recalling Hey now, why don't you listen to reason?
Well, reason makes us question and questions leave us scared, sad and confused

Another perfect crime, I don't know how they do it Perhaps it lies in common sense, of which I'm a student
They might keep us honest but they won't keep us here
We ought to run like as fast as we can

You take yourself so seriously
That's cool, not really

I sit waiting for different people to say the same thing
They tell me, "We gotta get you out of that house
I suppose, put that other life on hold"

Watch me put this in the past like you wanted
Watch me put you in your place like I promised
