"Halfway"

Halfway into sleep
Still looking for the sheep
The bed tells you no
But your pillow wants to follow you
To something that will keep it awake
Halfway into sleep
Where oceans don't seem too deep
The water doesn't scare me
And the fish are just like family
But to breathe you must believe
That you are one to
All this dreaming to forget this feeling
I'm turning off the light
I'm not afraid of you tonight
You're just a ghost
You're just as weak as an ice cream bar
I'm stronger than a skeleton
