She really gets me started
Every time that she is near
Shame that we're always parted
Shame that she's never near

On the day that we went out shopping
All she bought were very short skirts
Shame that we're always parted
Shame that she's always saying

Please stop calling me at home
Please stop calling me at home
Thought I think you're lovely baby
Won't you please, leave me alone?

Found a note lying on your table
Found a note, dropped it on the floor
And he always will be parted
Of that I'm completely sure

Please stop calling me at home
Please stop calling me at home
Thought I think you're lovely baby
Won't you please, leave me alone?

Please stop calling me at home
Please stop calling me at home
Thought I think you're lovely baby
Won't you please, leave me alone?
