Where's the heart that you put in when we started this thing?
We've begun, and you don't understand that you're missing.
Where have you gone, where have you gone?
I hate what you've become, I hate what you've become.
You're loving yourself and leaving us behind.

From where I'm standing you look like someone I could hate.
Lies that need no introduction yet you'll announce your name.
I gave my all, two can play this game.
You're doing this alone.
Does this face look like it cares?
Where's the heart now?
Where's the heart?

Where's the heart that you put in when we started this thing?
We've begun, and you don't understand that you're missing.
Where have you gone, where have you gone?
I hate what you've become, I hate what you've become.
You're loving yourself and leaving us behind.

I know this is where you wish you were.
Are you laughing now?
Cause I'm laughing now.
Where have you gone?
I'll make a mental note to think about the catch up game.
But you're not worth it; I'm so tired of you.
You are me but we're different, you are me but we're different.

Where's the heart that you put in when we started this thing?
We've begun, and you don't understand that you're missing.
Where have you gone, where have you gone?
I hate what you've become, I hate what you've become.

You're loving yourself and leaving us behind.
