I'm getting tired of the way that you speak to me I'm feeling lost in what you want me to be Cos I know you don't care about what I think I don't get why you always gotta be so loud
You're on a power trip the way you put me down
You think the world was made to follow you around

But one day you will find
That you can't keep on stepping, on everyone in your life
Then you cross that line

Cos you're coming crashing down so fast
Did you ever get that feeling, that a little goes along
way
You're coming crashing down at last Yeah you get what you were giving, yeah a little goes a long way

It's like you never heard the word compromise
You're trying to make excuses but I know they're lies
You can't hide the truth when it's in your eyes
You try to prove me wrong so you can start a fight
It's so predictable the way you think you're right
Then you lose control with no reason why

But one day you will find
That you can't keep on running when it gets too hard to try
Cos you crossed that line

And you're coming crashing down so fast
Did you ever get that feeling, that a little goes along
way
You're coming crashing down at last
Yeah you get what you were giving, yeah a little goes a long way

You're not gonna win
The tides comin' in And you'll be left behind and I

I'm not gonna wait
You're sorry too late
I made up my mind
I made up my mind

You're coming crashing down so fast
You're coming crashing down so fast
Did you ever get that feeling, that a little goes along
way
You're coming crashing down at last
Yeah you get what you were giving, yeah a little goes a long way
