Control, don't you think you've got control?
On these streets, you hold your own
Kind of like an island, all alone

But what happens when it all goes wrong?
You realize you're not so strong
Now all that strength you had is gone

Now you say you need some help
You can't do this by yourself
Ready to put your trust in somebody else

Well, have you ever felt the power?
Awesome, mighty, strong tower
Every knee must bow before Him
And declare, "He's got the power"

Ever since you were a little girl
Always been daddy's little girl
He said that he'll give you the world

But now you're grown and daddy's gone
Feels like he left you all alone
Guess now it's time for you to see
There's someone bigger than daddy

Now you say you need some help
You can't do this by yourself
Are you ready to put your trust in somebody else?

Well, have you ever felt the power?
Awesome, mighty, strong tower
Every knee must bow before Him
And declare, "He's got the power"

The say the government has got it all
They said the Twin Towers would never fall
They built the levees so it would never break
My God has got the power anyway

Have you ever felt the power?
Awesome, mighty, strong tower

Every knee must bow before Him
And declare, "He's got the power"

Have you ever felt the power?
Awesome, mighty, strong tower
Every knee must bow before Him
And declare, "He's got the power"

Have you ever felt the power?
Awesome, mighty, strong tower
Every knee must bow before Him
And declare, "He's got the power"
