I feel like a sun without a sky
Feel like a socket without an eye
Feel like a house but not a home
Just a dog without a bone
How can you wink without an eye
Like a grievance but with no cry
A house, but not a home and I don't know why
Just a pig without a sty

The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah

Feel like a sail but I've been slashed
A vigilante that's been unmasked
Feel like a raft, but not a ship
Sinking on this south facing tip

I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave me
And I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave me

But the best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah
Together again woah
Together again

Have you ever felt like a story untold?
A catwalk model that's growing old
Hard to imagine what's more important
The rainbow, the pot or the gold

I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave me
And I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave me

Thinking about what it is that made you change
Was it the quarks, the dosh or the dames
When did I become so deranged

Think of the time when blood ran through your veins
When she looked as sweet as a candy cane
As she looks through the window pain
Through the window pain and the rain
I say it again and again, the best lasts forever
The best lasts forever

The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah

I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave me
And I know that before when you answered the door
I told you and the world to leave mr

I've been on my knees on so many streets
Not just the ones in Dundee
Fell on my face been a legless disgrace
Ten thousand laughing at me
But still, the best lasts forever

The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah
The best lasts forever woah
