

The Wailin' Jennys

"All The Stars"

Visit "All The Stars" on MotoLyrics.com

All the stars in the sky, burn to black, close your eyes.
All the stars in the sky, say goodbye, say goodbye.
We were here yesterday, now it seems so far away.
We were here yesterday, I heard you saying...

... you don't know me!
You know one side of the story.
Oh, you don't know me.

So open wide your wounded heart, feel yourself be blown apart.
Open wide your wounded heart, it's a funny way to start.
In the light of the sun, we are found, we are undone.
In the light of the sun, we are all one, and...

... you don't know me!
You know one side of the story.
Oh, you don't know me.

All the seeds beneath the snow start to grow, start to grow.
All the seeds beneath the snow, say hello, say hello
All the seeds that lie below, deep in the heart of what we know.
All the seeds that lie below, the ones we sowed, and...

... you don't know me!
You know one side of the story.
But if we could be free... one with all this glory!
If we could be free...

Visit The Wailin' Jennys page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.