

The Warriors Of Destruction

"It Was Never Meant To Be"

Visit "It Was Never Meant To Be" on MotoLyrics.com

(Verse 1)

You're the key that unlocks the answer, to what I hold on the inside
But you've blew through my written feeling, with your loaded gun
We were inseparable but that changed, after you walked out of my life and gave me strife With no sign of detection, I can see that it was never meant to be
I've been splashed out of my misery by the wave, trying to get out of your cave I will always remember you were the one that helped me realize the truth inside of myself, through the hard times I adored you and you never knew what I felt, from the day we both glance into the eye of adoration I am drowning in my own cries, just wishing you can save me
But until then, my heart remains broken in this half empty glass However what's hurting me more is that you're not here, when I need you the most
You were too special to lose, why did it have to end
As it downfalls, it's your turn to feel the burn.

(Chorus 1)

I want to tell you how sorry I am, because it was never meant to be.

(Verse 2)

I will never pass up this opportunity to anyone else Because you were the one that I always wanted
As I try to pick up the missing pieces and find you, you're never in sight
You were a dream full of blissfulness, now you're gone and that hope of making a memory with you is lost Look at what your decision cost you to do, I am frosted up that it couldn't last forever All of a sudden I am breaking down in sadness, thinking to myself why did I let you go From the start, this treasure of trust that lies in our very souls has been torn apart And the supernatural spell you casted on me, became broken as of yesterday Eventually the promise that we made together, jumped out the window with everything we build Through the blaze, the candle is lit and my desire is settling in But why can't someone, come comfort me in this darkness

You were too special to lose, why did it have to end
As it downfalls, it's your turn to feel the burn.

(Chorus 2)

I want to tell you how sorry I am, because it was never meant to be.

(Bridge)

As the broken heart is dancing around you, you can't seem to escape today
But as tomorrow comes, you will overcome the wound.

As the broken heart is dancing around you, you can't seem to break it But as tomorrow comes, you will move on and let it heal.

(Chorus 3)

I want to tell you how sorry I am, because it was never meant to be.

Visit The Warriors Of Destruction page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.