How are you listening
If you're looking away
It's not your fault but could you pay attention to me today
Just wanna let you know
I'm falling apart
The problem's I don't know where sanity ends and where it will start

Absurd are the words that I heard from your mouth
As you lay down the blame for the same
Like you always do
Lucky I love you enough to put up with the world
The world of this vicious girl

How do you think that I've Gotten this far
By biting my tongue and holding my breath until my fists have gone hard
Just wanna let you know
You should stop at the start
If you continue your profanity you will leave me a scar

Absurd are the words that I heard from your mouth
As you lay down the blame for the same
Like you always do
Lucky I love you enough to put up with the world
The world of this vicious girl

How are you listening
If you're talking over me
What happened to taking the time to listen when I am trying to speak

Absurd are the words that I heard from your mouth
As you lay down the blame for the same
Like you always do
Lucky I love you enough to put up with the world
The world of this vicious girl
Absurd are the words that I heard from her mouth
As she lays down the blame for the same
Like she always does

Lucky I love her enough to put up with her world
The world of this vicious girl
