Monday comes crashing in and all the world looks grey again Faces on the train seem grim, when yesterday the same were smiling
Another week to kill, another week where time stands still
And shuffling masses feel the chill that comes with their routine
The working sceneâ€¦

Crawl out of bed and then I turn on MTV again To watch the same songs I can't stand. They sing of love and being happy Look there's another one that sounds just like the other one
The video without a song is being a famous whore Frustrates me moreâ€¦

But at the weekend, well everything will be okay
At the weekend, darling
At the weekend, I'll tell the world that for five long days
I've been wanting to say
Wanting to say, yeah, yeah

I wanna, I wanna, I wanna ride upon a five mile tide of surprise and oblivion
Rain or shine I'm waiting at the front line
I need it, I need it, like you would not believe it
And I've been dying to change, I've been dying to change my ways
'Cos I've been dry for five long days

I'll put the world to right, I'll fly like superman in flight I'll eat the day and drink the night and everyone will be there with me
This week I've seen it through, on autopilot, just like you
And now there's nothing left to do 'cept anything at all Let's hit the wallâ€¦

But at the weekend, well everything will be okay

At the weekend, darling
At the weekend, I'll tell the world that for five long days
I've been wanting to say

I wanna, I wanna, I wanna ride upon a five mile tide of
surprise and oblivion
Rain or shine I'm waiting at the front line
I need it, I need it, like you would not believe it
And I've been dying to change, I've been dying to
change my ways
'Cos I've been dry for five long days

At the weekend, baby, baby at the weekend
At the weekend, at the weekend
At the weekend, baby, baby, at the weekend
At the weekend, rock, rock, rock, roll

I wanna, I wanna, I wanna ride upon a five mile tide of
surprise and oblivion
Rain or shine I'm waiting at the front line
I need it, I need it, like you would not believe it
And I've been dying to change, I've been dying to
change my ways
'Cos I've been dry for five long I've been dry for five long days
