My parents raised me the best they could but somewhere along the line i came out misunderstood growing up this way was never part of my plan but it's a long strange road to becoming a man i tried to do all the right things and made all the wrong turns (wrong turns) its hard living with your mistakes but somehow you gotta learn (gotta learn)

I'm never gonna figure it out, what this fucking life's about i die over and over till the end and in the morning I'll be born again (i'll be born again) my parents were holy, they were heaven bound and playing Rock & Roll just wasn't allowed so i stayed up nights glued to my headphones but there was something lacking on the radio so i picked up my guitar and started writing my own songs (own songs) and it took a while but i finally found where i belong (i belong)

I'm never gonna figure it out,
and in the morning I'll be born again (i'll be born again)

i was never taught to follow my dreams
so i gave up on them but they didn't give up on me thought it'd be all cool when i got out on my own but trying to feed you kids takes on a weight of it's own slaved away for years while it ate at me but i wasn't meant to burn out in some factory if you wanna be happy you gotta stick with what you know (what ya know) if you follow your heart it will always lead to back to home (back to home)

I'm never gonna figure it out,
and in the morning I'll be born again (i'll be born again)
