[whole song x2]

Broke as a joke and its not to funny when you ain't got nothing to eat baby walked out and said see you later i ain't got no food in my fridgerator sick of this shit and your all out of money and your luck as just ran dry bills keep falling like heat seeking rockets i can reach right through the holes in my pockets i'm living on broken down, bring me some company cause my bags are packed and I'm moving on Going to a town called a little better its on the way to happiness five mile passed broken dreams just before the city of its ok right before i get there my car breaks down I'm stranded in the middle of confusion there is not one else around i could have hitched a ride back to broken dreams but i said i've already been there but it's not the place for me
