Take a bike ride in the spring time,
Surrounded by the butterflies
I daydream that you will be mine
Then i crash into a beehive

I get mentally deprived thinking of you
I get so swelled up inside thinking of you
I was almost stung alive thinking of you

Take a walk out in the sunset
Up against the rough shore line
I thought i could hear you calling
I look up and then i fall in

I nearly drown thinking of you
Got my head up in the clouds thinking of you
& when they put me in the ground I'll be thinking of you

Take a ride out in my car
Think about the words we said
Thought i saw a shooting star
Then it hit me in the forehead

I got teardrops in my eyes thinking of you
I lose my mind thinking of you
& when i die I'll be thinking of you

And i cant function in society
Whats wrong with me?
I never really comprehend, don't understand
Why must i be this kind of my who always dreams
I'm living in a land of make believe
I'm thinking of you and wishing you were here with me
Wishing that you were hear with me.

Take a walk out in the traffic
Feel the breeze of cars gone by
I just want to get the mail
Turn around and then I'm nailed

I'm in intensive care thinking of you,
I got this vacant stare thinking of you

Nothing else can compare to thinking of you
