We come from different backgrounds and We're different ages
we've been through different trials and tribulations some know what its like to live the good life some know what its like to sleep hungry at night we can all come together and unite at the show like brother's in arms we can let it all go we might not agree on whats right and whats wrong but we can all agree there's something wrong with this world

We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood

to the outside world all they see is no good
to the outside world all they see is no good

When your making your own way there are always complications we're just trying to make since of our situations some see the light ahead and know there is hope some gave up on there lives a long time ago we've all got our share of problems and we're making it clear we're not out to pass judgement on anyone hear we can come to grips it's a rise not a fall we can stick together for the good of us all

We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood

to the outside world all they see is no good

We come from different backgrounds and We're
different ages

like brother's in arms we can let it all go

We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood

to the outside world all they see is no good

We're the Wish you Were's, understood
We're the Wish you Were's, understood

to the outside world all they see is no good
