

The Wolfnote

"You Can Kill A Revolutionary"

Visit "You Can Kill A Revolutionary" on MotoLyrics.com

Illinois, 1969. A cover-up conspiracy.
Do you think that it was self defense?
To enter a man's home and shoot him in his bed?
The greed-creeps want security through the murder of revolutionaries.
Suppress those who possess intelligence, "How dare
they act so un-American?"
Talkin' about Fred Hampton, you gotta chew them up before they shoot you up.
Pigs raid West Monroe Street
Shots fired, hooves hit concrete.
An inequitable accessory, turned an apartment into a mortuary.
J. Edgar Hoover monitored his phonecalls, Kool-aid laced with secobarbital.
The proletariat is un-American!
They're gonna lock up your son, public enemy number one.

Visit The Wolfnote page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.