

The Wood Brothers

"Stumbled In"

Visit "Stumbled In" on MotoLyrics.com

You give me chills when you sing so sweet
You make me feel it from my neck to my feet
You get me sky high with chicken skin
This must be heaven and I stumbled in

I see your voice when I close my eyes
It's a light shinin' and it's shining so bright
I'm in the shadow of your snow-white wings
This must be heaven and I stumbled in

I stumbled in, I stumbled in Well I just found heaven with a touch of sin

I couldn't feel any better
You could knock me down with a feather
Cut me in half with a blade of grass
This must be heaven and - I hope it lasts - 'cuz

I stumbled in, I stumbled in
I don't mind the needle and the smoke, And your breath of gin
I just found heaven, With a touch of sin

You give me chills when you sing so sweet
You make me feel it from my neck to my feet
You get me sky high with chicken skin
This must be heaven and I stumbled in

I stumbled in, I stumbled in
I don't mind the needle and the smoke, And your breath of gin

I stumbled in, I stumbled in
I just found heaven, With a touch of sin
A touch of sin
A touch of sin

Visit The Wood Brothers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

