Drink up thy zider, George, pass us round the mug;
Drink up thy zider, George, thy garden's well nigh dug;
Thy cheeks are getting redder, from Charterhouse to Cheddar
And there's still more zider in the jug.

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be;
We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we.

Drink up thy zider, George, thy's been going far;
Drink up thy zider, George, thy's getting quite a star;
There's dung all o'er thy taters and half way up thy gaiters
And there's still more zider in the jar.

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we

Drink up thy zider, George, an' get up off the mat;
Drink up thy zider, George, put on thy gurt big hat;
We'em off to Barrow Gurney, for to see my brother
Ernie
And there's still more zider in the vat

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be;
We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we.

Drink up thy zider, George, it's time we had a rest;
Drink up thy zider, George, it's the finest ever pressed;
There's nothing like good zider to make thy smile grow wider
And there's still more zider in the west.

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be;
We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be;
We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we

Drink up thy zider, drink up thy zider
For tonight we'll merry be;
We'll knock the milk churns over and roll 'em in the
clover
The corns half cut and so be we.
