Lay down the distance
Just keeping quiet
This conversation is almost over

You ran away
Don't come back to me
So far away
You'll never know what you are

Instead of, living just, put me out of misery
Here and now, I'm finding out, that everything I want is everything that I need

Everything that's sweet to the last touch of your cheek
I thought you'd never let me down
I thought you'd never let me down
You're all the same, just longing for change
You lied to me, I hope you get what you deserve

Instead of, living just, put me out of misery
Here and now, I'm finding out, that everything I want is
everything that I need

Instead of, living just, put me out of misery
Here and now, I'm finding out, that everything I want is everything that I know

You run away
I need you to know
You run away
Tonight, to know
That everything I want, is everything I need
Tonight, to know
That everything I want, is everything I need
