This fire's getting brighter,

I can see portraits

The interior walls

Are letting go

And nobody knows

Speaking of atrocities and the collapse

You were in there

I remember

The moon and the wine

They're what keep me alive

The moon and the wine

Are what keep me alive

It's hard to think of smiles

When your face is gone

Too much pain in my mind

Won't let me go

I remember to forget,

But don't forget to remember

The moon and the wine

They're what keep me alive

The moon and the wine

Are what keep me alive
I've been running through my mind
Like chasing fireflies
Believe this, I believe you
No, time won't ever try to lie
Like chasing fireflies
Believe this, I believe you
The fire hasn't come to you
But you can taste the smoke
I'm not afraid to be alone
The fire hasn't come to you
But you can taste the smoke
I'm not afraid anymore
I've been running through my mind
Like chasing fireflies
Just know that
I love you
