I've been sitting beside myself at the edge of the earth, trying to find a reason for why we're still here and why we're still fighting.
And yesterday after the battles had ensued, I think to myself about all these families, and how they're missing a member now, if it's not them it's me,

I don't take pleasure in this no choice, no options, no remorse am I the martyr or the ghost? am I the martyr, am I the ghost?
Taking these tainted miss lead lives, is what a man like me only knows how to do, forgive these hands,
forgive these eyes,
for the things they've done and the things they've seen and the things they're about to do let's make it through this night let's makes everything right let's make it through this night let's make it out alive!
