Sunstorms, Spirits enters the solar domain
Deceased, off to a horizon in flames
Burning, ten thousand degrees are there to embrace Unharmd, we drink from the lava ablaze Worthless are the flesh cages now withering one astrological unit away
Severed from the flesh, leaving all earthly behind Swarming to the afterlife, the astral projections searches and finds Submerging in to the corona, sharing body with the solar entity
Diving into the lava ocean, rising again in solar purity
Ether bodies swarm, colonizing the sun
Here dwells all of those we thought of as gone

Solar colony, a haven for the deceased
Awaken to a new form of life in symbiosis with the stars
Colonizing the sun, finally released
Heat waves burning away the bitterness
Released from life's pain and distress
Solar flares, luminous from the sun they are bled
Northern lights, aurora borealis, a sign of the dead
Those thought of as gone, united as one
Colonizing the sun, finally realized
A haven for the deceased
Awaken to a new form of life in symbiosis with the stars
Colonizing the sun, finally released
