Turn and face the strange the door is open you're awake you're storming heaven without thought you're storming heaven without god remember, I know where you live and I know you're on your own
I may forget I don't forgive I'm always home
you turn and face the strange you turn and face yourself I know when you lie the brightness darkens in your eyes this is yours to take control this is yours now hold your own remember, I know where you live and I know you're on your own

I may forget I don't forgive
I'm always home
you turn.....barging into the presence of god.
