"Worlds Within Worlds"

Used to explore the realms formed by dreams
The origin to all thoughts, and consciousness
I explored in deep slumber, vanished
My ability of those days was gone
Denied entrance to the place where dreams are real
The spirits of dream, I must have offended them

Distant regions of dream, into the ethereal
Increased sleep through the use of drugs
Exploring worlds within worlds, I withdraw

Life comes through mere illusion, a created reflection
When reality wreaks havoc, I withdraw

For many months I wondered of how to enter
To become part of my dreams again
Now I know, the strange pills that went down my throat
They were strong enough to take me there
Even if it lasted only for a moment
Untied from earth through this release
I shall leave with the arrival of dusk

Into the ethereal, where the sea meets the sky
Synthetic pills lift my wings, so that I again may enter

Distant regions of dreams, into the ethereal
Increased sleep through the use of drugs
Exploring worlds within worlds, I withdraw
Life comes through mere illusion, a created reflection
When reality wreaks havoc, I withdraw
