Did you think it would be easy?

That you could just walk away

With no strings attached?

Or did you think we wouldn't notice,

The crime of the century...

Did you even think at all?

No, I really don't think you did

What made you think

You could do something like this to me?

You wont get away with it

Because it was so much more than just a bad day

It was the panic in the street before a riot

And the calm before the storm

It was the feeling in your gut when you lost control

And your car went off the road

It was the fear that your prayers would forever go unanswered

Because nothing can save you now!

It was finding out just how much we took for

Granted

When we buried our best friend!

It was the tears we left behind

And it turned us into desperate men!

HEY!

What made you think

You could do something like this to me?

You won't get away with it

We will survive

Because all it takes is for one spark to turn into a

Flame

As we watched the fire burned out of control

HEY!

What made you think

You could do something like this to me?

You won't get away with it
