Hey girl
no, don't try your name is always in the light but it takes more to shine

Don't tell me your okay I know what he did to you don't tell me different

I can read you like a book each page, a new problem
only I will take a second look because I know your worth it

Like a heart attack in a hospital, you will be the center of attention you will-

Leaves as a bed
rest your head young child, of mine smell of cologne, his cigarettes you are alone tonight (tonight)
these scars won't lie Headlines never made a difference these scars will never make a difference this time, all we can do is try your alright
your okay your (your) all (all) right (right)
your (your) okay

Don't let him tell you you are worthless because you mean something to me

This night has tragic written all across it's skyline and even this thought of it would even scar me this monster doesn't even know what your worth
