[The Old Norse word "blǣ³t" (Old English "Blǣ³tan") originally means "to strengthen" and is now used To refer to heathen sacrifice. The oldest form of this practice consists of laying down offerings Near sacred places as bogs, falls, rocks and trees. Sacrifices can be made for good harvest, Fertility and victory in combat.]

"Veistu hve rista skal?
Veistu hve rǣida skal?
Veistu hve fǣia skal?
Veistu hve freista skal?
Veistu hve bidja skal?
Veistu hve blǣ³ta skal?
Veistu hve senda skal?
Veistu hve sǣ³a skal?"

"Sigrǣnar skaltu kunna,
Ef vilt sigr hafa,
Ok rista ǣi hjalti hjǣ³rs,
Ok nefna tysvar Tǣ½."

Hail to Day!
Hail to the sons of Day!
To night and her daughter hail!

With placid eyes
Behold here,
And here sitting
Give us victory

Wuotan... Valfadr
Wuotan... Valfadr
Wuotan... Valfadr
Wuotan... Valfadr

Hail to the Ǧtsir!
Hail to the Asyntur!
Hail to the bounteous earth!
