

They Might Be Giants "Lie Still, Little Bottle"

Visit "Lie Still, Little Bottle" on MotoLyrics.com

Lie still, little bottle, and shake my shaky hand
Black coffee's not enough for me, I need a better
friend
One pill at the bottom is singing my favorite song
I know I must investigate
I hope that I can sing along

There's no time for metaphors cried the little pill to me
He said, "Life is a placebo masquerading as a simile"*
Well, I knew that pill was lying Too gregarious, too nice
But as he walked I had to sing this twice

Lie still, little bottle
Don't twist, it ain't twistin' time
With every move you make you just disintegrate my ever-troubled mind

Lie still, little bottle, and shake my shaky hand
Black coffee's not enough for me, I need a better
friend
One pill at the bottom is singing my favorite song
I know I must investigate
I hope that I can sing along

Lie still, little bottle
Lie still
Lie still, little bottle
Lie still
Lie still
Lie still

Visit They Might Be Giants page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.