

Thieves And Villains

"I Have Spread Some Love"

Visit "I Have Spread Some Love" on MotoLyrics.com

I just need to feel
What it's like to stand at an ocean break
Let your new love crash around me
I want to drown in you and everything

We came together under September
Or was it July?
God knows I'm just too high and full of spite to ever fully remember
Walked your street and it felt just so right
To the tick tocks of the blinking light
I'll think of you resting by the covers
A feel for you
I'm grasping by the collar

And I have spread some love and some lies
I'm only truthful at the time
But truthfully, darling
You held me close and I never felt so alive
To see you're eyes
That great big picture in the sky
It's just enough, enough to make me float on by

I just need to feel out of reach
A different city scape means I'm leaving you a piece
Of what I took, I swear I had released
It's everything I am
Pretending who I am

And I have spread some love and some lies
I'm only truthful at the time
But truthfully, darling
You held me close and I never felt so alive
To see you're eyes
That great big picture in the sky
It's just enough, enough to make me float on by [x2]

I just need to feel...

Visit Thieves And Villains page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

