There's every good reason
For letting you go
She's sneaky and smoked out
And it's starting to show

I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you turn around your back on each other
That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around your back on each other

You say that I've changed
Well maybe I did
But even if I've changed
What's wrong with it?

I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you turn around your back on each other
That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around your back on each other

And our friends are gone and gone
And all the time moves on and on
And all I know is it's wrong, it's wrong
And all I know is it's wrong, it's wrong, it's wrong

If there's a reason
It's lost on me
Maybe we'll be friends

I guess we'll see

I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
I'll never let you go
Turn around, your back on each other
It's a good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around let's turn on each other

Good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around your back on each other
That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around your back on each other
What a good idea

I remember the stupid things, the mood rings
The bracelets and the beads
Nickels and dimes, yours and mine, did you cash in all your dreams?
You don't dream for me, no, you don't dream for me, no
(Goodbye, goodbye)
But I still feel your pulse like sonar from the days in the waves

That girl is like a sunburn
I would like to say
The girl is like a sunburn
She's like a sunburn
(She's like a sunburn)
She's like a sunburn
