Driven this way home
A thousand times before
But i always get lost coming home from your house

Recite the words you said
These thoughts go through my head
As i ask myself if i i should open my mouth
Cause i can always make you laugh
And i would never want to loose that
It seems things always fall apart

And i don't want you to be the girl im scared to look at

Driven to your house a Thousand times before
Im always lost in thoughts walkin up to your front door
Your waiting with a smile
Ive been waiting all this while Waiting on myself waiting on myself

Another day goes by
And i ask the question why
And wonder if you know the way i feel about you
Cant let my feelings out
But there's just someting about
The way you make me feel when im at home around you

But if it has to be this way
At least i know that im the only one that gets to hear you cry
And if i can't be in your arms
Then I'll be next to you
Yeah I'll be next to you

Ive driven to your house
A thousand times before
And im always lost in thoughts
Walkin up to your front door
You are waiting with a smile
Ive been waiting all this while
Waiting on myself

Waiting on myself
