I'm juggling rhymes, just smuggling time
You are just part of my mind
Feeling so much pride
With a monster that will eat you from the inside
I'll jump on you with mathematic fractions
Anything that will bring me closer to my satisfaction
Getting ready for the race, my goal is to win first place
Looking at you, looking at me
High fiving, talking smack, that's what we do
I'm just a step away
Taking out anything that might come my way
Taking back what's mine
I'll make sure to leave the scene of the crime
The time is ticking, people have gone missing
The people on the streets panic as they start running
As I watch the stars go by to the end of time
Being accused for doing the time
What's this holding me
Was this all meant to be
I try to keep it back
But I'm always under attack
Playing it on the down low, so that nobody knows
Getting out of control, but now I'm getting cold
The thought of this happening to me
My thoughts have taken over me
Setting out at night to get my fill
Making the kill, so that I can obtain the skill
With the smell of blood
Becomes a flash flood
With this pain inside
Will make your last words goodbye
