

This Century "So Cruel"

Visit "So Cruel" on MotoLyrics.com

Down down you bring me down
You leave the night without a sound
I'm sure that I had my doubts
But now I'm sure you're the one who messed around
I can't forget you messed around
And laughed at what you found

You can be so cruel, I was such a fool
I cannot forgive you for bending the rules
I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
Tired of letting you in, whenever you end I begin

Blame blame blame myself
Stayed with you, you cried for help
I should have just said farewell
But now I know you can only love yourself
Love yourself you love yourself
Much more than anyone else
Much more than anyone else

You can be so cruel, I was such a fool
I cannot forgive you for bending the rules
I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
Tired of letting you in, whenever you end I begin

You can be so cruel, I was such a fool
I cannot forgive you for bending the rules
I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
Tired of letting you in, wherever you end I begin

Visit This Century page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.