City lights raping minds
have turned blue
and all the buildings shattered now after a party that never became yes the circle did close indeed became that strangling

item on my neck
since day one I was blessing you your voice always making love to me
bodies like serpents
fallen from my hands
long lost babies moan
in a passionate moment
a gone motion afire
a picture I still have a faceful of life

in a broken mirror
crush the rest of this also.
