We see ourselves in the water, your reflection's telling me
We'll make it through
And no one will ever touch us, cause that's what love will do
Tell me everything you feel now, as I lay right here with you
I'll be the shoulder when you're crying,
Cause that's what love should do

I know we swore not to talk about it

You know your beauty is a killer,
That's why I die right here with you
If only you felt the same way too,
With this love we'll make it through

I know we swore not to talk about it, but enough is enough
I'm so tired of not sleeping
And I can't stand the heat of these god awful sheets
If I can't fall asleep to your breathing

That's what love will do, that's what love should do
With this love we'll make it through, with this love
