

This Part Is Us "Bruises"

I'm looking at your sunrise when everything seemed so right. You said "Hey Boy you're so fine, we'll set the town on fire - make you feel alive." Sinking ships and breaking hearts, we'll burn this love right from the start. You've done us wrong, we're too far gone. I heard you say "Hold me tonight".

(Tonight, tonight, tonight)
And make me feel all right.

And now you'll never know I don't feel the same for you. There is nothing that can prove that you were meant for me. You know I bruise so easily.

See the world through blind eyes. Walk into walls and set aside. We'll burn these bridges down, we'll burn them down, we'll burn tonight.

Taking control, this is my home! We're running out of time.
I'm pouring my soul, watch me unfold - we're holding on tonight.

I don't feel the same, I don't feel the same.

And now you'll never know I don't feel the same for you. There is nothing you can do.
