Feel free and use this to transform your thoughts to all the images of the
Tragedies in our reality

Look up and stare into the open air and realize
That beyond our eyes there lies,
The world you believed we all would never see.
Pull back the curtain and witness our own destruction.
Let in the burning sun
Stealing the innocence of everyone
(Stealing the innocence of everyone)
(Stealing the innocence of everyone(

Death is coming, and I will save us from them
The sirens alarming our swarming streets
Awaken the rest to become

Free from all the things that we hide from
And now is our chance to run
Free from the chaos they create
And it's their world were trying to escape

Everyone you know and love
Everything we stand above
Everything with meaning to your life
Everything will burn
All this cancer that we create,
Will burn.
This is a message for those who choose to hear:
All I have to say is...
We've all been blind
And now is the time for you to Take back the secrets they hide
We've all been blind
And now were free

Free from all the things that we hide from
And now is our chance to run
Free from the chaos they create
And it's their world were trying to escape

Look around and see the problems in this world
All of our dreams, they can't unfold
They're poisoning our minds
Forever lost in time
Controlled by our own kind
We're controlled by,
The ones that run our minds
Don't believe a word they say
They're after our minds
Look around and see the problems in this world
All of our dreams, they can't unfold
They're poisoning our minds
Forever lost in time
Controlled by our own kind
We wont stand for this abomination,
Understand the power of creation.
Trust me...
We wont stand for this abomination,
Understand the power of creation.
