Mama

Why would she open her eyes
She look so mess when she sleeps

Mama, mama, mama, open your eyes for me
Mama, mama, mama, open your eyes for your son
So sad, so sad, so sad you never thought you would be
Is your life that miserable to keep it undone

Chorus

Have you never been happy, so you turned down the light
You asked me more water and you turned around in a sight
You asked to pull the curtain, I told you to stand up
You needed more chemicals, well the doctor called up

Chorus

Doctor, Doctor, Doctor, if you come back once again
I think I'll someone better be you than the maid
I think I'll ask to check what you left in her brain
I think at least sadness is the healthiest pain

Chorus

Let her cry, Let her cry, Let her cry all tears in her body
I'd rather give her a warm hug than a remedy
Let her cry, let her cry, let her cry, we'll be sad together
I know that sadness never last forever
The wisemen told sadness never last forever
No, no, never last forever.
Never last forever.
