To whom it may concern
When will we learn we are all the same?
And do you really think
That you're the first to fall along the way?
It may sound crazy
But what if you don't try to run?
And rather than kick our wounded
We could just lift you up
Oh, we're not throwing stones
Hey, you are not your shame
Whoa, you can go along
Hey, we won't go away
I can see it's written on your face
It reads with every line
Wishing you could somehow just erase
Or even turn back time

So let us remind you
That you're not what you have done
Oh, we're not throwing stones
Hey, you are not your shame
Whoa, you can go along
Hey, we won't go away
We're not throwing stones
Hey, you are not your shame
Whoa, you can go along
Hey, we won't go away
We won't go away x2
Breathe deep and believe that wherever you go
It won't matter how high
Don't matter how low
It comes down to being found
And who you know who you know x5
