Verse 1:

Sleep in the new town
With your ghost besides me
But you're not around
And in, gets harder to breathe
When these photos remind me
Of what used to be

Pre-chorus:

Someday we'll rise up from this place
If we don't make the same mistake

Chorus:

All this time
I held onto what's mine
But you were lost outside
And the distance in your eyes tell me you weren't
Before but now you're free
Now you're free

Verse 2:

How does such a young girl
Hold on her shoulders the weight of the world
And free nothing is free
And I ask for forgiveness
But would you forgive me

Pre-chorus:

But someday we'll rise up from this place
Pray we don't make the same mistake

Chorus:

All this time
I held onto what's mine
But you were lost outside
And the distance in your eyes tell me you weren't
Before but now you're free
(Someday you'll rise up from this place if we don't make the same mistake)
Now you're free
(Someday you'll rise up from this place if we don't make the same mistake)

Now you're free
(Someday you'll rise up from this place if we don't make the same mistake)
Now you're free
(Someday you'll rise up from this place if we don't make the same mistake)
Now you're free
(Someday you'll rise up from this place if we don't make the same mistake)
Now you're free
(Someday, someday)

Chorus:
All this time
I held onto what's mine
But you were lost outside
And the distance in your eyes tells me what's wrong
Inside and we held on all this time to what we've lost outside and the Distance fades away to when we were before and now we're free
Now we're free
