I am a travelling man, I have no country

And travelling people are my kin by birth

No chains will keep me from my destination

And far-flung are my footsteps on this earth

There's something in my mind that makes me

Something in their wind that takes me

Like the dust, I'm blown out on the street again

Restless highway

I need to leave this town behind

Restless highway

Some ?see the country of? my mind

You hear my footsteps wherever this rocky road will
wind

This empty restless highway is my heart

I will trade anything you fancy

I'll ?sew your purse?, I'll milk your garden cow

I'll shine your shoes or sew your silver button

I'll punch your nose, I'll sharpen up your plough

There's something in my mind that makes me

Something in their wind that takes me

Like the dust, I'm blown out on the street again

Restless highway

I need to leave this town behind

Restless highway

Some ?see the country of? my mind

You hear my footsteps wherever this rocky road will

This empty restless highway is my heart

Restless highway

I need to leave this town behind

Restless highway

Some ?see the country of? my mind

You hear my footsteps wherever this rocky road will

This empty restless highway is my heart

This empty restless highway is my heart
