When you're lost in the dark and you can't find a way
When the night is so long you don't remember the day
When you're too far gone to hear anybody call
When your last year left you with nothing at all

You're going to need somebody
You're going to need somebody You're gonna need the one who's standing, waiting for you

When nobody wants you, nobody needs you Nobody loves you, nobody feeds you
When your ship is sinking in the middle of a sea
When they've locked you in chains and they've thrown away the key

You're going to need somebody
You're going to need somebody
You're gonna need the one who's standing, waiting for
you

When you don't live long unless you're fast on your feet
When they're taking your furniture out into the street
When you can't sleep at night for counting cracks on the wall
When your friends dealt you out just to watch you fall

You're going to need somebody
You're going to need somebody
You're gonna need the one who's standing, waiting for
you

When you're lost in the dark and you can't find a way
When the night is so long you don't remember the day
When you're too far gone to hear anybody call
When your last year left you with nothing at all

You're going to need somebody
You're going to need somebody
You're gonna need the one who's standing, waiting for
you

You're gonna need the one who's standing, waiting for
you
