Sustainable culture after so long dies.
We will have the world and no price can be too high.
A fitting introduction to the black book of life;
There's a glint in our eyes and poison in your wine.

Here's salvation for your freedom, Christ for your time.
Take heart we heal the soul and give you worth before you die.
Give as you receive - production for eternity
And I see we're just in time... Cause your body's failing quickly.

From us to you, welcome to hell on earth.
We don't need empty thanks for what we're bringing to you.

We save. They die. We never go away.

Our ethnocentric impulses lead to genocidal consequences.
Our faith dictates and we obey: we save and they die.
They fucking die.
