My friend I still hear you speak (still hear you speak)
Your words just don't me sleep (won't let me sleep)
In these very sheets of day dreams

And I wonder
What it's going to be like

When you're just on your own (just on your own)
Eyes searching for the exit (for the exit)
Superficial knowledge will be your fate

And still I wonder
What you might find

Wrap the wire around your finger,
That's why you still love cell phone calls
When the old sound was the newest thing around

Nothing will change, nothing will stay the same, But words can tear a word apart. That's senseless, isn't it?

My friend I still hear you speak (still hear you speak)
Your words just don't me sleep (won't let me sleep)
In these very sheets of day dreams

And everything I want is here so keep me from running away
And where were you? Out of sight, out of mind. Been there, done that

And where were you? Out of sight, out of mind Somehow lost on the way that has no end. Where were you, where were you?
Been there, done that. Back to where we began
I have an appointment, so start again, start again, so start again
Start again, start again
