If i could live this life a thousand times
It would never be the same without you
And that is really something to think about
Cause if we ever parted what will I ever do?
We started out as friends
Never did think that this would turn into true love
With you is where I wanna be
I found a friend, a life, a home
With you
I found a friend to share my feelings with
I have a life that I wanna live
We share a home and a one big family
For what more, for what more could I ask for?
For what more could I ask for?
We could travel together to the stars above if we really tried
There's no better team than you and me

Let us join our hands and send our praise to God
This love will never end
We will see all the dreams we have they will come true
With you is where I'll always be
I found a friend, a life, a home
With you
I found a friend to share my feelings with
I have a life that I wanna live, girl that i wanna live
We share a home and a one big family
For what more, for what more could i ask for?
I found a freind to share my feelings with
I have a life that I wanna live
We share a home and a one big family
For what more, for what more could i ask for?
For what more could i ask for?
