Try to find a reason why youre so lost within you Might want to express the feelings youve locked inside your heart
Burning up overheated with confusion and desperation
Seek your portrait
Dont be anybodys follower live life your way

Realise that you cant live without other people point of view
Realise that you cant live without other peoples admission only theyve got their ideals.

Try to find a reason why youre so lost Drugged with surreal images you fantasize about Youre not the only one youre not the one ahead

I see you break apart your head only to find You ask too much you cant deal with enough
And theres so much to solve but youre not in control Im so sick of your face

Realise that you cant live without other peoples
admission only theyve got their ideals.

You break apart youre so fragile Elevate your wings my angel
Dry your tears frozen from the cold Live behind your stories untold
