There's something in the water, that makes us the way we are Sometimes it makes me feel, feel quite bizarre There's something in the water that makes it hard to breathe
Sometimes I want to hold my breath can we heal this disease

Can we stop this world before it turns
Can we bring ourselves to all confess

That the way, we call each other names
Gives something to talk about
And the way we like to place the blame
Gives us something to read about

There something in the water that keeps s all insane Cause we all think we're different, but we're- really all the same There's something in the sunlight, that makes us close our eyes
Sometimes I close my eyes so tight that I can see myself inside

Can we stop this world before it turns
Can we bring ourselves to all confess

That the way, we call each other names
Gives us so-thing to talk about
And the way we like to place the blame
Gives us something to read about

And the way we call each other name.
Gives us something to talk about

And the way we like to play our games Watch each other go without, go without

There's something in the water, that makes us the way
we are
Cause sometimes it makes me feel, feel quite bizarre There's something in the air, that makes it hard to

breathe
Sometimes I want to hold my breath can we heal this disease

Can we stop this world before it turns
Can we bring ourselves to all confess

That the way, we call each other names
Gives us something to talk about
And the way we like to place the blame
Gives us something to read about

And the way we call each other names gives us something to talk about
And the way we like to play our games watch each other go without, go without
