All dressed up with intentions, wrecks of uncertainty Played it out like a foolish child, tell me, what else could it be

But you tear right through me
Waving your long hair at the pretty boys downtown

When you come home I call you over
You can slip off your shoes and dance around in the moonlight
I'll play guitar and I feel like a superstar
You look at me and say it's all right, it's all right

Lightning bugs are winking, at each other in the night
My friends say I should call you, and maybe later, I just might

But you tear right through me
In spite of all the pretty little boys uptown

When you come home I call you over
You can slip off your shoes and dance around my front door
I'll play guitar and I feel like a superstar
You say it sounds good, it's all right

When you come home i call you over
You can slip off your shoes and dance around in the
moonlight
I'll play guitar and I feel like a superstar
You say it's so good, it's all right

It's all right, it's all right, it's all right, yeah
I'll play guitar and I feel like a superstar
You say it sounds good, it's all right
