"Hold Me Back"

forces of evil clash with good and I feel like I should do something for someone, but I fail cause we can't take on the world, but if the world comes to us and they want to make this personal, then we will there've been times, when you should hold me back now's not the time to hold me back again

this is not the time, to hold me back again this is not the time
this is not the time, don't hold me back again now for the first time I feel hunted, as I should and yet I've never been so hungry, like the wolf you went straight for the heart, tore mine apart, now it changes everything you want to make this personal, well we will

this is not the time
