(Merle Haggard)

I wonder if I'll find you in some honky tonkin' bar
I wonder if I'll find the hidden place you parked the car
I wonder if I'll find you holdin' someone tight
Oh, I wonder where I'll find you at tonight.

I saw a family friend of ours a gal named Martha Lou She aloud to save my feelings wouldn't tell me what she knew
And there's got to be a reason why you're stayin' out of sight
Oh, I wonder where I'll find you at tonight.

Walking's not the fastest way I know to make a town
But I can't afford no taxi driver drivin' me around
And now I'm slowly walking toward another neon light
Oh, I wonder where I'll find you at tonight.

It's almost closin' time and there's one honky tonk to go
Been checking out Joe's Coffee Shops the only place I know
If I had some clue to follow or just a guiding light
Oh, I wonder where I'll find you at tonight.

I wonder where I'll find you at tonight...
